"Time was when only the natural plants & animal fibers like cotton, wool, silk & linen were available. Fabric selection was relatively simple. Now new developments in fibers, construction, dyeing & finishing fabrics makes selection more complicated. This one of a kind dictionary was written to help clarify some of the fabric language, not to pretend to be comprehensive, just representative. The omission of trade names was deliberate, only "textile terms" are offered. June Barnett has been both a student & teacher of fashion, a buyer & seller in the fashion world."
